Two Men Killed At Fort Wayne In Train Wreck

Fort Wayne, Ind., Oct. 24 (4P)-Two men were killed and at least 11 persons hurt early today in the vreck of a fast eastbound Pennsylvania passenger train pulling into the station here.

The dead were Robert M. Bry-Salkeld, 46, Birmingham, Mich. The train, the Mid-City Express from Chicago, was crossing from the Pennsylvania to parelleling Wabash tracks to continue to De troit when a backing switch en-gine ripped off half the side of the steel-constructed third coach. Two conductors and nine passengers in the coach were hurt. None of the 11 cars turned over. The crew of the switch engine, moving two cars from the Chica-go-to-Cincinnati Southland, escaped injury.

U. S. Vessel Taken To Murmansk Port By German Crew

Question Is Whether Nazis Had Right to Send City of Flint Into Neutral

American Embassy Asks Full Information From Russia

Washington, Oct. 24. (AP).-The American government was expected today to demand that Russia release the freighter City of Flint vhich was taken into the Soviet harbor of Murmansk by a German prize crew.

It was reported in official quarters that the government would base this request on the ground that Germany, in the absence of extraordinary circumstances, had no right to send the 4,963-ton vessel into a neutral port, regardless of any contraband she might have carried.

While this international aspect of the seizure of the American vessel was fast developing, the White House was represented to have taken the view that, in so far as domestic law is concerned, the City of Flint was on a "perfectly legal and lawful voyage.

American Laws

Stephen Early, presidential press secretary, explained that in making this statement he was speak-ing only of American laws and did not mean that Germany had no right under international law to seize the freighter.

The question of right of seizure best political prognosticators be-tween Junction City, Kansas, and Germans on their belief that conthe eastern edge of Queens coun- traband was aboard-was being investigated by the state department.

The first move of the government, however, will be to seek release of the ship and her crew of 42, in command of Captain Joseph Gainard. The City of Flint was captured by the German cruiser Emden as a prize of war last week. She was out of New York, bound to Glasgow. Liverpool and other English ports.

Queries Made

Already the American embassy at Moscow has asked the Soviet government what became of the crew and at Berlin the embassy sought an explanation of the seiz-Secretary Hull said at his press conference that no word had yet been received from any source about the crew or their whereabouts. Likewise no word has come from the ship itself. Hull said probably more than

Only a limited portion of the cargo, he told reporters, could be called absolute contraband. He said the vessel carried 5,000 tons of goods of 50 different kinds.

Russia's Promise Full information concerning the American steamship City of Flint, captured by a German sea raider and taken to a north Russian port, was promised by the Soviet government today in response to a United States request.

Official Washington quarters indicated the request probably would be followed up by a demand that the vessel, captured while carrying a cargo for England, be released along with her 42 crew

Capture of the American vessel and sinking of the British freighter Stonegate gave evidence that at least two fast German warships —the "Pocket Battleship" Deutschland and the cruiser Emden—were ranging far outside Britain's naval blockade.

Survivors of the Stonegate were quoted as saying the ship was sunk by the Deutschland; Norwegian officials said the Emden wegan officials said the Emden captured the City of Flint.

The state department studied the question of whether Germany acted under international law in sending the American ship, carrying tractors, wheat, leather and other goods for England, to a neutral port after seizing her.

The American embassy in Bernel

The American embassy in Berin also pressed inquiries concerning the ship and her crew.

RECORD OF ACHIEVEMENT

If it be true that the test of future performance is past deeds, then there is no uncertainty in the kind of administration that C. J. Heiselman, the Republican candidate for mayor, will give. His record is an open book—a straightforward business administration with all waste expenditures eliminated and the finances of the city conserved. This he will continue to do.

Mayor Heiselman's record stands as proof that he not only has the qualifications for handling the public's money but also that he has the interest of all the people at heart. For these reasons Mayor Heiselman should have the support of all citizens of the city. Noters of the city, irrespective of party affiliation, know that the Republican candidate for re-election has conducted the business of the city on a realistic basis and from a business-like standpoint. Those who have the welfare of the city at heart will work and vote for Mayor Heiselman and the Republican candidates for members of the Common Council for they realize that it is for the interests of the city and its inhabitants that the Republican administration be continued for another two years. What the Republican administration has accomplished in the past may be counted upon to do in the future.

Every citizen interested in getting good government, in the efficient operation of the city government-getting full dollar's value for every tax dollar paid-should take an active part in seeking the return of the Republican administration.

Taxpayers and rent payers should carefully consider the record of achievement of the Heiselman administration. Study it calmly in the quiet of your home where the ballyhoo of partisan politics can't distract you. Ask | of the symptoms of the various diseases yourself whether such a program of progress, of honest, constructive work for the public good ever has been equaled in Kingston's

AMERICA'S UNSOUGHT POWER

While Europe lights to maintain or alter the balance of power in that area, world power has come to the United States unsought and almost unobserved by Americans. Whether we like the idea or not, world leadership has fallen into our hands.

The "series of happenings" which led to this situation were described the other day by Arthur C. Horrocks, public relations counsel of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company. The World War changed our status from that of a debtor to the world's largest creditor nation, he said. Since that time three-fourths of the world's gold supply has drifted into our possession and been buried in Uncle Sam's big underground safety vaults. The center of the banking world has been transferred from London to this country "without realization that such a transfer was being made."

An editorial in the Saturday Evening Post a week or two ago expressed the same idea in slightly different words when it said that the "star of world supremacy" had come to rest over a people who did not seek it and did not want it and do not know what to do with it now that they have it.

It's a big responsibility, but maybe Destiny intends us to wield it usefully. For another "series of happenings" has given this nation a good measure of democracy, a population with a wide range of racial talents, cultures and abilities, more security than any other powerful nation has ever enjoyed, great natural resources, considerable idealism and boundless human energy.

JUMP IN TELEVISION

The wonders of television become more practical as a result of the remarkable experiment at New York and Washington the other day. The big drag on development of this art has been the short transmission distance. The television waves, though powerful, did not seem to carry more than fifty miles. But that, the scientists suspected was merely because the rays, unlike ordinary radio waves, traveled in straight lines and so were stopped by the curvature of the earth, running into the ground about 50 miles from the sending tower. At a height of four miles above Washington this theory was brilliantly proved. The combination picture-voice transmission for the intervening 200 miles was successful. It is suggested now that television may be extended for almost any distance desired, by installing relay stations about 300 miles apart, held aloft by balloons four or five miles high, somewhat like the stationary balloons sustaining airplane nets over London.

We may be seeing and hearing that European war by some such method before it is ended.

The seas may or may not be free, but the highways are, and there's also a lot of freedom in the little old back yard.

The automobile problem: Every year you get more auto for your money but less money for your old auto.

Well, anyway, the world isn't stagnating.

THAT BODY

By James W. Barton, M.D.

(Registered in accordance with the Copyright Act.) STOMACH AND INTESTINAL ULCER

In my student days, we used to make up tables gan-stomach, heart, kidneys -and tried to remember which of these symptoms were found in each disease. Thus in diseases of the stomach-ulcer, cancer, chronic inflammation - we thought of the pain, presence, absence, and amount of gastric juice, appearance of the face, and other symptoms. Since that time there has come the Xray, and the gastroscope (which allows the physician to see the lining of the stomach)

What we did not know in former days and what we are rapidly learning now is that many ailments are due to the general make-up-nervous and emotional- of the individual, and that it is this make-up which brings on symptoms.

Thus Dr. T. Grier Miller, Philadelphia, in Virrius Dr. 1. Gree Minel, Inhadelphia, in the gima Medical Monthly, says.

"Ulcer can no longer be regarded as a local disease of the stomach or intestine. The modern physician must concern himself with the person who has the ulcer, with his heredity, with his physical, mental, and emotional make-up, with his surroundings and social standing and with his personal habits of life." This does not mean that the high strung neryous, emotional individual is bound to develop stomach ulcer, but that he is more likely to do so when he is attacked by infection or eats the wrong

Drs Clarence F. G. Brown, Chicago, and Ralph E. Dolkhart, Boston, in the Journal of the American Medical Association state that the investigation of 1,500 cases where ulcer returned after havmg healed showed that in order of importance the causes were, (1) nervousness, including fatigue and anxiety, (2) acute infection such as a cold, infected sinus, abscessed tooth, or acute indigestion, and (3) the things put in the stomach-coarse foods, highly seasoned foods, hot bread, seedy vegetables and fruits, fruit cakes and puddings, cucumbers, radishes, ohves, and celery.

It is well to remember, then, that while infection and wrong foods may be the immediate cause of, or return of, the ulcer of the stomach or intestine, nervousness and anxiety prepares the soil or tissue that grows or develops the ulcer.

Cancer: Its Symptoms and Treatment Send for Dr. Barton's latest booklet entitled "Cancer: Its Symptoms and Treatment" (No. 110). Do not mistake ulcer of the stomach for cancer and vice versa. Cancer must be found early so do not neglect any unusual symptom, especially if you are middle-aged. Send your request to The Bell Library. 247 West 43rd street, New York, N. Y., enclosing ten cents to cover cost of handling and mailing and mention the Kingston Daily Freeman.

New Wage Hour Law Will Tend to Give Excuse for Increase in Prices With Consumer Paying By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Oct. 24—Economic hour law introduces.

Although many industries and businesses are not affected by the new hours and wage rates, in hourly pay and a flat limitation on the maximum hours that can be worked before overtime is paid is something to which the American economic system has not yet become accustomed, because there are some occupations, such as retailing and agriculture, to which the law does not apply.

Likewise, there are industries where the work week is already two hours below the new maxi-mum of 42 and the pay is higher than the new minimum of 30 cents

But that the new law will tend to give an excuse for an increase in prices wherever practicable cannot be doubted, so that the con sumer will in the end pay the bill and, if the price rise is too abrupt, consumption will be curtailed and law is far-reaching because, if congress can set a maximum of 42 and, if it can put the nourly rate at 30 cents, it can put it at any other figure which the pressure groups hereafter may insist upon. The experience with the new law is too fragmentary to know how much party rollities is coinced.

Who are above the minimum wage brackets, but two cannot be advanced in wages till the heavier costs due to the new law have been absorbed.

Broadly speaking, the change how much party politics is going to play a part in the future, but it will be noted that, in the past, pressure to get congress to increase bounties and pay bonuses or subsidies or to guarantee higher not been by any means in-consequential. At the moment, too, the emphasis is on hours and wages. Some future congress, motivated by a desire to cure a depression, may find it necessary to prescribe working standards of output. Emily Post (Author of "Etiquette," "The Personal-ity of a House," "The Blue Book of Social Usage," etc.)

An Erstwhile Sister-in-Law Dear Mrs. Post: Please tell us how we should behave toward a sister-in-law who is marrying 20 years after the death of her husband. Shall we still call her our sister-in-law and children still call her Aunt Mary, and should they address the new new husband as Uncle Frank? How should this husband's own children address

Answer: If you have been on happy family terms with your sister-in-law for 20 years I don't see how you can suddenly turn her into a stranger. So far as other people are concerned, it is seldom lationship. In other words, you introduce her as "Mrs. Smith" nd her husband as "Mr. Smith." (It is not necessary to say, "my ex-sister-in-law, who used to be Mrs. Brown and is now Mrs. Smith.") The children would of course, continue to call her 'Aunt Mary," and if they were fond of her, and now like him-perhaps call her husband "Uncle."

The Book Borrower Again

Dear · Mrs. Post: I am an unwoman and have no husband to blame for agreeing not to lend people my prize books. I believe you have suggested that a woman, whose book-borrowing friends give her no peace with their asking to borrow every new book she gets, might say that her husband hadn't as yet read the book. But when one lives alone and has no such excuse, then what does one does not do does one do?

Answer: If you have a library books, and many do not return is brought back, make a check in your book to show return. I suggest this only because it is something that many people who have many and valuable books have found practical. I have been told having to sign for a book seems to make an impression on even the most careless book borowers. One friend of mine says his book losses, which once seriously distressed him, have been reduced to almost none. He says Otherwise, there is nothing that I know of to do except to keep a new book out of sight until you have at least read it. Or possibly keep your few most crerished ones put away for always and lend them only to the rare few who sufficiently appreciate books to be careful not to mar them and to be conscientious about returning them.

YESTERDAY: The Medical diding fenitor poses two ques-no what became of the animale Murchison experimented on, and why does a war veteran keep asking for Murchison, Mieheel finds the wounded veteran, Smith, in a hospital.

Chapter 15

Drawing Conclusions SMITH fumbled in that breast bocket and brought out a cer-tain dirty folded paper. "Murchi-son has the mate to this," he said "He gave me the money when we signed it. He said the minute he sent for me I was to come. He said the might be ready any time I...

I been nearly crazy. I couldn't give the money back...it's gone. The wife...she ain't got so much nowadaya." He gulped. "I didn't ought to have signed it I was mad for the money. I was mad for the money at the money. I was mad for the money at the money. I was mad for the money at the money. I was mad for the money at the money. I was mad for the money at the m the money. I never got it through my head what he was goin' to do with me."

What he was going to do with you?" Michael repeated. "Yes." Smith fumbled with the what I had to sell ... "Smith went on shakily. "He'd give me half the money then and half to the wife after ... after . "he stopped."

University and struck a bargain with this here Murchison Only

"Well? It's been done before, surely.

"Yes. Smith thought he couldn't hang out much longer. The doctors told him so Only ... Murchison didn't want him after he was dead He doubled the mim if ..."

"I see," said Michael quietly. His eyes were leard and cold

Smith looked up with awful fear in his eyes. "What would he do with me?" he asked. "What does he want to do to me?"

Michael's voice was very low "He won't be doing anything with you," he said "Not now. Not at any future time, either" any future time, either

Smith stared with unbelieving eyes. The big man gave a deep sigh of relief "I said as how he must be dead," he exclaimed "Either dead, or they got wise to him. They don't let that kind of thing go on I het Smith here. thing go on I bet Smith here wasn't the first one

Michael was frowning "I'd like to know all the details, if you please," he said in a tone of authority "And I must have that of course

"I been waiting for something like this to happen," the big man Smith cleared his throat He was beginning to believe. "You got it all," he said "I said he could have what's left of me after . well, after . . . the doctor gets through with me. Mary, she need-ed the cash something awful He said all right, but he'd give me twice as much if I'd come before He said we could fix it up that he was to operate on me, and he'd give me half the money now, and the rest to Mary later And then ... when the operation fell through ... he could just say I'd died on the table. He said he could fix all that And not to come hanging around until he sent for me But that was last winter, and I been waiting and waiting and thinking about what he'd do to me there all alone maybe, and no whifs of stuff to take the wain away.

"The authorities got onto the business with Smill?" he asked at the end
"Not a whisper It was the animals they know about There was and I been nearly crazy. Jake here says he couldn't hold me to it, but I been scared he could You sure

'Black Books'

THE conversation at dinner was sedate The District Attorney surveyed his daughter-in-law several times with keen and ques-tioning attention, but she seemed quite well Michael refused to meet his father's glance, so nothing could be learned in that quarter, and it was not until dinner was over and the two men were walking about the garden with their pipes that he had a chance to ask his question
"What's the matter with the girl tonight?" he demanded 'I feel as if I were in her black books She treated me just as if I were anyone at all," he finished with a glance, he hastened to qualify "In her black books Not just any body But I'm afraid Tuck's regard for you has gone to your head That final remark of yours had just a touch of concert, although I hesi-tate to point it out"

"Humph," said John Forrester. "Oh, I have a certain regard for the feelings of the aged "

"You're a damned young puppy. Why am I in her black books?
What've I done?" "Oh, that Well, she knows that you had something up your sleeve when you got us here"

"I thought you'd have sense enough to hold your tongue, Michael It's no use getting her excited until we know the lay of the

"And what does she know?"
"That Murchinson has gone, and that the Commissioner suspects feathers in the soup, to say nothing of diamonds"
"She knows it might be murder?"

Michael sighed "She does" Doesn't it give her night-mares?"

"It does not She's a bloodthirsty little devil Murder is to her a thing apart and her sole idea is "This Murchson," the big man took up the story "Smith here was broke He'd heard about these that a man may have been foully done to death with plenty of blood the man and there, and all that "He kicked at the stones on the path. "I suppose it isn't the murder she thinks about It's the riddle She's crazy about cross word puzzles and characts This seems so far to be about on a par She doesn't really think of what might be ahead"

"And Bunny?"
"You know Bunny. She'll do plenty of thinking, but she'll keep it to herself and be very sensible about everything that comes up. Unless Tuck leads her into devil-

The District Attorney puffed furiously at his pipe. "What about the blood stains on that paper you found in the desk? Doesn't that bring it closer home to them?"

"They didn't see the paper, dad saw no reason for calling it to their attention, since they didn't notice that I'd found it" "The expert make out the fin-gerprints"

"Nothing but a smudge A smudge of human blood And, under the circumstances, that needn't mean murder"
"Under what circumstances?"

Unpleasant Aroma

MICHAEL stopped and leaned on the gate His father stood beside him, looking out into the dusk of the woods Michael turned and looked at him, and dropped his voice

"You gave me the tip," he said quietly "That hint of the antiivisectionists making trouble for Murchison I've been asking discreet questions, and getting equally discreet answers. It doesn't he naused "It doesn't have a very pleasant aroma," he said with a gesture of distaste

"Let's have it," his father said shortly.

Michael told him of his afternoon's adventures, and of the information which he had unearthed. Forrester listened in si-

Red Cross Seeks More Aid Locally

A communication from the National Red Cross headquarters in Washington was received by the Ulater County Chapter today, requesting three dozen men's sweaters, two dozen women's sweaters, and three dozen children's sweaters as the quota for the local office for December.

Mrs. Charlotte Tappen, local secretary, stated today that volunteers were needed for this work, and appealed to all who can knit to offer their services in the cause of the Red Cross.

Commenting further on this appeal from headquarters, Mrs. lappen said that the sweaters were needed for the protection of

The men with the best judgment say that if Mr. Roosevelt is nominated for a third term, Vice President Garner should be drafted also. They say that he gives a balanced view to the administration which should be retained.

Vandenberg has his followers in virtually every middle western state. Perhaps an even more potent factor is that many of the men who help pay the way for the Republican party, think well of him.

Dewey is silent about the vice presidency for obvious reasons. No candidate for a presidential nomination would care to compromise his chances by saying in advance he would be willing to accept the second spot on

But the Republicans would have a chance to make a bid for the big electorial vote of New York by putting him on the ticket. Few presidents have ever been elected without that state's vote. And few men have turned down the vice presidential nomination.

Chicago, Oct. 24 (49).—A lot can happen in 30 years, and has in the Jack Crain Piles football situation at the Univertisy of Chicago.

Just 30 years ago tomorrow, the Daily Maroon, student newspaper, suggested that Chicago, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Illinois were too strong in football for another group of teams in their organization.

"It seems to us," the paper said, a joke in the eyes of the American public and a sore spot to the alumni. * * * * In his first game against Flor-think any team in the country could score on Major Bob Neystreaked 42 yards to a touch-land's crew, let alone beat them! alumni. * * *

"For the football team, how-ever, the matter isn't such a big joke. Each week a small group of young men go out on the field to be overwhelmed in body and spirit afternoon. For their reward the lot. players get derision. This might be good moral training for martyrs but football players are human be-ing Texas around all afternoon

"Don't let the score bother you, ute for his next chance. day," one of the players quoted the president as saying.

"We were all too amazed by his appearance to remember very much of what he said," another

Coach Clark Shaughnessy said Dr. Hutchins' visit was "one of the best things that could have happened to the squad." The Maroons have an open date Saturday, then play the University of Virginia at Charlottesville, Va., November 4.

Jackets After Port Jervis Cops For Sunday Game 132½, Philadelphia, outpointed place. Mike Evans, 133, Philadelphia, The night in the Kaslich Billiard Parlors, it was decided to sponsor one more game before making any move to discontinue play. Lack of patronage at the games has put the Jackets in a financial slump and it was decided to play this Sunday before taking any action toward discontinuance of the club for the season.

Efforts are being made to bring the Port Jervis Police to the Municipal Stadium for their annual tussle. The Policemen are credited with having an unusually strong team and one that will keep the Jackets on their toes during every play.

If this week's tilt does not bring a paying crowd it is likely that the Jackets will seek road bookings. The local semi-pros have an excel-lent reputation and it is likely that will secure enough dates away from home to insure players of a profitable sum.

Dog Enjoys Soda Drink Without Using Saucer

EVANSVILLE, IND. - Muggsy, the nine-year-old mongrel dog owned by Ada White of Evansville, is more than just a mutt—be's a canine companion. First among his accomplishments is the ability to drink from a bottle. He accompanies his mistress to a soft drink stand and waits patiently for the bottle. When she hands it to him, he wraps his forelegs around it and drinks directly from it. No straw or saucer is necessary.

He doesn't like hot weather, When the temperature rises, he barks for his cold bath. He likes a tub of cold water, and Miss White says he will lie in it for hours.

When he comes into a room, he remembers to close the door.

City Basketball League Meeting

The organization meeting for the City Basketball League will be held Friday night in the city hall at 7:30 o'clock. All managers whose teams are interested in joining the league are asked to be present as all preliminary work for starting the loop will be discussed and adopted at this meeting. For the past two years there has been 12 teams in the circuit but more are expected for the coming season. The Department of Recreation has ruled that no person can play in the city league if also playing in the Church or Catholic Leagues. The games this year will be played in the municipal auditorium with a few at the Myron J. Michael School

Church Athletic League Meeting

There will be a meeting of the board of governors of the Catholic Church Athletic Association this evening in St. Mary's Hall. Due to the men's mission the meeting has been called for 7 o'clock. All members of the board are urged to be present.

Teams to Meet

Wednesday evening the Clinton Avenue Men's Club dartball team will play the Woodstock team at Epworth Hall, Clinton avenue, at o'clock. This will be the opening league game for the two teams.

based on observations I have made as a resident of this city since birth and have been followed up with closer study since my elec-tion to office as student mayor. West Shore Railroad Crossing

One of the most pressing prob-lems in our city today is that of the West Shore Railroad crossing on Broadway. It is not a new one. For many years it has been there a sore spot in the history of the city of Kingston, and a very dangerous one. Many years ago, long before I was born, in 1917 to be exact, an accident occurred on this crossing, a trolley car was hit by a train and two persons were killed-one an outstanding business man of the city and the other, one of our police officers. In 1937 a fire truck was hit on this crossing and three of our firemen were killed. Many plans have been drawn and much discussion had on methods of eliminating this dangerous and unsightly crossing, If the present plan of depressing the railroad tracks costs too much money and cannot be done at once I recommend depressing the street which can be done at a much less expense and completed in a much shorter time and will serve the same purpose.
